Ford QVM Presentation, Last Minute Addition to the 30th Annual NGV America Conference

Alex Jowa, a leader in the Ford Motor Company QVM (Qualified Vehicle Modifier) Program, will present the model year 2019 NGV offerings, descriptions of the approved QVM fuel system developers and installers, and background on the QVM process. His presentation will be made during the morning of Thursday, November 15th, in the Moving the Market section at the conference.

The Ford QVM program is the production channel through which Ford OEM natural gas vehicles are available at Ford dealerships to commercial and government fleets nationwide. Driven by stringent requirements for QVM partners, this program ensures each vehicle ordered will meet the highest standards for quality and safety. Ford offers the largest selection of CNG vehicles, which range from their Transit Connect to F-Series trucks and Transit vans to medium-duty trucks.

The conference begins next week in Palm Springs, California. This is a special version of this annual conference where stakeholders of the NGV industry will be celebrating the 30th annual edition of the conference. This means that all the leading experts and fleets should be in attendance.

CNG SERVICES

You can still register for the NGV America conference, direct flights from Denver and elsewhere to Palm Springs are available. For example, Frontier and United Airlines are offering direct flights from Denver for less than $200 roundtrip. This conference is the best annual opportunity for fleet managers, NGV technology experts, government policy makers, Clean Cities officials, and vehicle and station equipment vendors to learn about and exchange the latest information about light-to-heavy duty natural gas vehicles including trends around RNG, ultra-clean engines and efficient fueling technologies.

Redmark is proud to be a Ford QVM installer. Redmark is the Rocky Mountain Region's most experienced vehicle services provider. In fact, the company has been installing and servicing CNG fuel systems for light-duty, heavy-duty and specialty vehicles for a quarter century, with thousands of installations completed for hundreds of fleet customers.
